Type: WARNING

DMS-57003: Failed to process the serialized DMS execution context {0} sent by {1} (user-agent: {2}) when requesting the resource {3}.

Cause: By scrutinizing the incoming HTTP request DMS has attempted to detect and, if appropriate, make use of a wrapped execution context. That process has failed. This should not affect the processing of the servlet handling the request, but the ability to correlate the processing of this request with others to which it may related will have been adversely affected. A DMS execution context is an object that contains context information about the piece of work being performed at a particular moment in time. The type of context information carried by the DMS execution context may include the URL of the http request, the unique correlation key (ECID) assigned to that piece of work, etc - information that is useful for tracking requests though the system. The execution context does not carry user names, passwords or general application parameters. The DMS execution context should not be confused with application specific context objects, such as ADF-context or Faces-context, which are vital to the accurate execution of the application concerned.

Impact: Other

DMS-57004: Failed to initialize the DMS trace to be associated with DMS execution context {0}, that itself is associated with a request of resource {1}.

Cause: A problem has occurred in the initialization of the trace system for this request. This should not affect the processing of the servlet handling the request but will be a problem if the trace (aggregate, debug or triggered) data was of value to the system's administrator.

DMS-57005: Failed to terminate the DMS trace associated with DMS execution context {0}, that itself is associated with a request of resource {1}.

Cause: A problem has occurred in the finalization of the trace system for this request. This should not affect the processing of the servlet handling the request but will be a problem if the trace (aggregate, debug or triggered) data was of value to the system's administrator.

Level: 1

Type: WARNING

Impact: Other

DMS-57006: Failed to deactivate the DMS execution context, {0}, associated with a request of resource {1}.

Cause: A problem has occurred in the termination of the DMS execution context in place during the processing of the HTTP request. This should not affect the servlet handling the request, but may result in an invalid execution context being in place for the processing of future requests and possibly prevent accurate trace data from being gathered.

Action: Contact Oracle Support Services.

Level: 1

Type: WARNING

Impact: Other

DMS-57007: Failed to url-decode a serialized execution context ({0}) due to a problem in the decoding process itself: {1}

Cause: A problem has occurred while trying to url-decode a wrapped execution context found as a url-parameter. The consequence is that the execution context being passed from client to server can not be used. A failure in the DMS execution context feature does not generally result in a complete failure of the system or application making use of it, but it can result in misleading trace output or misleading correlation keys (ECID) in log messages: generally only the administrator will be aware of such changes in the behavior of an affected application.

Action: Determine if there is any code in the system that integrates with the Oracle DMS Context API (java package oracle.dms.context) but was not produced by Oracle. If there is no such code then contact Oracle Support Services. Otherwise scrutinize and test the non-Oracle code, and if necessary contact Oracle Support Services.

Level: 1

Type: WARNING

Impact: Other

DMS-57008: The execution context put in place at the start of the request, {0}, is not the execution context in place at the end of the request, {1}. The request is as follows: {2}

Cause: When enabled to do so DMS associates an execution context with the resources (typically a thread) assigned to process an incoming request. In this case the context that DMS assigned at the start of the processing is not the one in place at the end of the processing. At some point during the processing the context has been changed. This could result in the loss of the ability to correlate the work performed across the complete request lifecycle for this request. A failure in the DMS execution context feature does not generally result in a complete failure of the system or application making use of it, but it can result in misleading trace output or misleading correlation keys (ECID) in log messages: generally only the administrator will be aware of such changes in the behavior of an affected application.

DMS-57009: An error prevented selection of an appropriate execution context implementation for this environment - the feature will be disabled.

Cause: At the point of initialization DMS needs to determine the environment in which it is operating in order to select the most appropriate implementation of the execution context feature. An unexpected error has occurred during that process. The DMS execution context feature will be disabled.

DMS-57018: Failed to fetch data required to complete current method - will proceed by assuming the data is null.

Cause: In order to respond to a request for data the current thread needed to acquire a (read) lock on the data being accessed. The current thread waited for a period of time in order to acquire the lock but ultimately the lock was not acquired. This can happen if there is high thread contention on the lock protecting access to the data concerned. DMS-58005: ignoring exception: {0}

Cause: An unanticipated problem has occurred for which the runtime code can not take automatic remedial action.

Level: 1

Type: WARNING

Impact: Other

DMS-58006: Problem encountered while removing old files from trace output directories.

Cause: DMS was attempting to remove old files from the trace output directories but for some reason (see base exception) has failed.

Action: The system is unlikely to fail as a consequence of this error, but disk space will be used that would otherwise have been released. Refer to the base exception to see if the problem can be addressed, and consider deleting unrequired files manually (DMS no longer needs these old files so any or all of them can be removed).

Level: 1

Type: WARNING

Impact: Files

DMS-58007: Problem encountered when closing file and associated streams.

Cause: As part of the termination of a normal read or write operation on a file the file could not be closed.

Action: If a file can not be properly closed then the operating system's file-handle associated with that file may not be properly released. An operating system can manage only a finite number of file-handles and if they are not released then new file-handles can not be created. One consequence of a depletion of file-handles is that file input/output on the machine concerned may be forced to come to a stop. It is more likely, however, that this is a one-off problem and that Java will tidy up the file-handle internally. This type of problem suggests a problem with either the JVM, the operating system or the state of the machine on which they are running. Review the base exception to see if the issue can be resolved (e.g. memory issues, disk space issues, file access issues, etc.). In order to understand the scale of the problem continue to monitor the system for similar or related issues. If necessary stop and start the product to fully reinitialize the JVM on which it runs.

DMS-58008: error writing trace data to disk

Cause: DMS has failed to create or use the objects required to write trace output to disk. The output intended to be written will be discarded.

Action: This type of problem suggests a problem with either the JVM, the operating system or the state of the machine on which they are running. Review the base exception to see if the issue can be resolved (e.g. memory issues, disk space issues, file access issues, etc.). In order to understand the scale of the problem continue to monitor the system for similar or related issues. If necessary stop and start the product to fully reinitialize the JVM on which it runs.

Level: 1

Type: WARNING

Impact: Other

DMS-58013: Problem encountered aggregating trace: {0}.

Cause: DMS has failed to perform the aggregation process on the trace data collected during the handling of this particular task or servlet request. A DMS trace is composed of a series of DMS trace events that represent an operation performed within DMS. Examples of trace events are: a sensor update, the start and end of an HTTP request. An aggregate trace is the result of aggregating trace data for tasks (typically HTTP requests) associated with the same URI. Failure to perform the aggregation processing for this task will mean that the summary data for the URI concerned will not be accurate.

Action: Review exception details and the log for any seemingly related messages. If the problem has come from the JVM itself: This type of problem suggests a problem with either the JVM, the operating system or the state of the machine on which they are running. Review the base exception to see if the issue can be resolved (e.g. memory issues, disk space issues, file access issues, etc.). In order to understand the scale of the problem continue to monitor the system for similar or related issues. If necessary stop and start the product to fully reinitialize the JVM on which it runs. Otherwise the problem is with the code written to run on the JVM: Determine if there is any code in the system that that integrates with the Oracle DMS Trace API (java package oracle.dms.trace) but was not produced by Oracle. If there is no such code then contact Oracle Support Services. Otherwise scrutinize and test the non-Oracle code in order to isolate the problem.

DMS-58014: Failed to handle REQUEST_BEGIN for {0}. The trace will not be aggregated.

Cause: DMS did not find the trace event that marks the start of the series of trace events to be associated with an HTTP request. Without that particular trace event DMS can not be sure that the set of collected trace events will accurately represent the actions performed during that HTTP request and consequently will not process them further. Failure to perform the aggregation processing for this task will mean that the summary data for the URI concerned will not be accurate.

Action: Review exception details and the log for any seemingly related messages. Type: WARNING

Impact: Other

DMS-58015: Can not get the current task's execution context and therefore the trace events that occurred during this task's lifecycle can not be used to contribute to the aggregate trace associated with the task's URL.

Cause: In order to perform the process of trace aggregation for a completed task the execution context for that task is required. In this case the execution context could not be found; without the execution context object the trace aggregation process can not be performed. A DMS trace is composed of a series of DMS trace events that represent an operation performed within DMS. Examples of trace events are: a sensor update, the start and end of an HTTP request. An aggregate trace is the result of aggregating trace data for tasks (typically HTTP requests) associated with the same URI. Failure to perform the aggregation processing for this task will mean that the summary data for the URI concerned will not be accurate.

Action: Determine if there is any code in the system that that integrates with the Oracle DMS Trace API (java package oracle.dms.trace) but was not produced by Oracle. If there is no such code then contact Oracle Support Services. Otherwise scrutinize and test the non-Oracle code in order to isolate the problem.

Level: 1

Type: WARNING

DMS-58016: Can not get the URI associated with the current thread's recent activities.

Cause: In order to perform the process of trace aggregation for a completed task the URI associated with that task is required. In this case the URI could not be found; without the URI the trace information collected cannot be aggregated. A DMS trace is composed of a series of DMS trace events that represent an operation performed within DMS. Examples of trace events are: a sensor update, the start and end of an HTTP request. An aggregate trace is the result of aggregating trace data for tasks (typically HTTP requests) associated with the same URI. Level: 1

Type: WARNING

Impact: Other

DMS-58017: The maximum number of allowed aggregates has already been reached. Traces referring to URLs not already being aggregated will not contribute to aggregate information.

Cause: In order to prevent too much memory being consumed by the DMS trace system the current request will not be added to the aggregate trace set because the maximum number of URIs for which trace data will be aggregated has already been reached. A DMS trace is composed of a series of DMS trace events that represent an operation performed within DMS. Examples of trace events are: a sensor update, the start and end of an HTTP request. An aggregate trace is the result of aggregating trace data for tasks (typically HTTP requests) associated with the same URI.

Action: If aggregate trace information is not required for this request there is no action required. Otherwise please review the value of the system property `oracle.dms.trace.maxAggregates`.

DMS-58018: Cannot delete old trace file: {0}.

Cause: An attempt to delete a file system file has failed (the deletion attempt was intended to keep files organized and their number manageable). The system is unlikely to fail as a consequence of this error, but disk space will be used that would otherwise have been released.

Action: This type of problem suggests a problem with either the JVM, the operating system or the state of the machine on which they are running. Review the base exception to see if the issue can be resolved (e.g. memory issues, disk space issues, file access issues, etc.). In order to understand the scale of the problem continue to monitor the system for similar or related issues. If necessary stop and start the product to fully reinitialize the JVM on which it runs.

FRM-91124: fatal error in runtime process: {0} specified for FORMS_DECIMAL_PREFIX. Should be zero or the empty string

Cause: An invalid value was specified for the environment variable FORMS_DECIMAL_PREFIX.

Action: Do one of the following: 1. Specify FORMS_DECIMAL_PREFIX as '0' to force a zero before a leading decimal point in any number displayed without a format mask in the application. 2. Specify FORMS_DECIMAL_PREFIX as '' (the empty string).

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91126: fatal error in runtime process: invalid value {0} specified for environment variable {1}

Cause: An invalid environment variable value was specified. An example would be an invalid timezone for an environment variable that specifies a timezone.

Action: Correct the environment variable value.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91127: runtime process: invalid directory name specified for environment variable {0}

Cause: An invalid value was specified for an environment variable that represents the name of a directory. Specifically, the value is too long: either it is itself longer than a system-imposed maximum, or a subdirectory name that Forms needs to construct would be longer than the system-imposed maximum. Execution of the runtime process might have been terminated, or it might have continued. In the latter case, the functionality that required this environment variable was disabled.

Action: If this error message appears for DOMAIN_HOME or FORMS_INSTANCE_NAME, and the problem persists, contact Oracle Support Services. Otherwise, correct the environment variable value.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91128: runtime process warning: invalid value {0} specified for environment variable {1}; using default %s

Cause: An invalid environment variable value was specified. The indicated default value was used, and processing continued.

Action: Correct the environment variable value.

Level: 1

Type: WARNING

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91129: runtime process: no value specified for required environment variable {0}

Cause: A required environment variable was not set or was set to the empty string. Execution of the runtime process might have been terminated, or it might have continued. In the latter case, the functionality that required this environment variable was disabled.

Action: If this error message appears for DOMAIN_HOME or FORMS_INSTANCE_NAME, and the problem persists, contact Oracle Support Services. Otherwise, set the environment variable to a non-empty value.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91130: fatal error in runtime process: timezone file {0} is missing

Cause: The timezone file (specified by the environment variable FORMS_TZFILE) was not found.

Action: Correct the FORMS_TZFILE environment variable value. It should specify $ORACLE_HOME/oracore/zoneinfo/timezone.dat or $ORACLE_HOME/oracore/zoneinfo/timezlr.dat.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91131: fatal error in runtime process: timezone file {0} not loaded - required memory unavailable

Cause: The timezone file (specified by the environment variable FORMS_TZFILE) could not be loaded. This probably indicates insufficient swap space.

Action: Increase the size of the swap space.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91132: fatal error in runtime process: invalid data in timezone file {0}

Cause: The timezone file (specified by the environment variable FORMS_TZFILE) was found to contain invalid data.

Action: Correct the FORMS_TZFILE environment variable value. It should specify $ORACLE_HOME/oracore/zoneinfo/timezone.dat or $ORACLE_HOME/oracore/zoneinfo/timezlg.dat.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91134: fatal error in runtime process: NLS_LANG specifies unsupported character set

Cause: The NLS_LANG environment variable specified a character set which is not ASCII-based, e.g. fixed-width Unicode or an EBCDIC-based character set.

Action: Correct the NLS_LANG environment variable value.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91135: fatal error in runtime process: message file {0} is missing

Cause: The specified message file was not found.

Action: Verify that the file has not been moved or deleted. If necessary, reinstall it.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Configuration

FRM-91137: runtime process: unable to open log file {0}

Cause: An invalid name was specified for a log file or a trace file. The name might be too long, or it might specify a non-existent or read-only directory. In the former case, the error message shows the name truncated at the maximum allowable length, followed by 3 dots. Execution of the runtime process might have been terminated, or it might have continued. In the latter case, messages that subsequently would have been written to the file were silently discarded.

Action: Correct the environment variable used to specify the directory (e.g. FORMS_TRACE_DIR), and/or the file name proper (which might have been specified e.g. by the value of the 'log' configuration parameter). If no environment variable or configuration parameter was set to specify the directory or the file name proper, and the problem persists, contact Oracle Support Services.

FRM-91990: runtime process: A maximum of {0}K bytes were simultaneously allocated for archived record data.

Cause: The runtime process allocated the indicated amount of memory without reserving swap space or /tmp file space. The memory will be included in many reports of memory usage (such as the output of the Linux pmap command), but it will not consume system resources (real memory or disk) until it is actually used for archived record data. (See FRM-91992).

Action: No action is required.

Level: 1

Type: TRACE

Impact: Performance

FRM-91991: runtime process: A maximum of {0}K bytes were simultaneously allocated and reserved for archived record data.

Cause: The runtime process allocated the indicated amount of memory, and reserved swap space or /tmp file space for it.

Action: No action is required. However, if the number reported by this message is significantly larger than the number reported by FRM-91992 and you are using mapped-memory archiving (FORMS_RECMGR_ARCHIVE unset, or set to MAP_SWAP or MAP_TMPFILE), you may want to reduce the value of FORMS_RECMGR_BLOCK_SIZE (which defaults to 64K when memory is being reserved, but can be set as low as 32K). Better yet, don't reserve memory that's allocated for archived record data, if possible. (This can be accomplished in most Unix installations, by setting FORMS_RECMGR_RESERVE_SPACE to '0').

Level: 1

Type: TRACE

Impact: Performance

FRM-91992: runtime process: A maximum of {0}K bytes were simultaneously in use for archived record data.

Cause: The runtime process used the indicated amount of memory for archived record data. Specifically, at time of maximum usage, it (the runtime process) had written data into the pages of memory, and the data was still needed at that point (because there was a possibility that the record might subsequently need to be activated). Note that when FORMS_RECMGR_ARCHIVE has been set to WRITE_TMPFILE, the runtime process has no way of notifying the file system when it no longer needs a page, and so the file system may retain an unneeded page in a real-memory buffer for a while. Thus, in this case the number reported by this message should be viewed as lower bound.

Action: No action is required. However, the numbers reported by this message for various applications may help to determine an appropriate value for FORMS_RECMGR_ARCHIVE_THRESHOLD.

Level: 1

Type: TRACE

Impact: Performance

FRM-91994: runtime process: Record groups required {0}K bytes for archived record data, plus approximately {1}K additional bytes for active record data and record anchors. If FORMS_RECMGR_USED_FOR_RECGRPS were set to FALSE, a total of approximately {2}K bytes would instead have been required.

Cause: At the point in time when total memory for archived record data was at its maximum (as reported by FRM-91992), the runtime process used the sum of the first two amounts for all data and anchors for all records in record groups, but would instead have used the third amount if FORMS_RECMGR_USED_FOR_RECGRPS had been set to FALSE.

Action: No action is required. However, the numbers reported by this message for various applications may help to determine the appropriate value for FORMS_RECMGR_USED_FOR_RECGRPS. [Bear in mind that TRUE (the default) requires more CPU than FALSE.]

FRM-93115: error reading configuration file FormsOIDConfig.xml.

Cause: An I/O error occurred while reading configuration file FormsOIDConfig.xml.

Action: Check if file exists in configuration directory.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Files

FRM-93121: Cannot find environment variable configuration file {0}.

Cause: One of the following occurred. (The first is by far the most likely.) Note that an envFile parameter may specify a relative path; if it was not found in the current directory, Forms will search for it in the directory that contains the Forms Servlet configuration file. 1. The envFile configuration parameter for this application specified a nonexistent file. A preceding FRM-93141 error message provides details. 2. The envFile configuration parameter for this application specified a file that existed when the Forms Servlet extracted the parameter, but the file subsequently disappeared. 3. No envFile configuration parameter that would apply to this application was specified, and the envFile servlet parameter specified a nonexistent file.

Action: Take action depending on the cause. 1. Take action indicated for the preceding FRM-93141 error message. 2. Re-create the file, or correct the envFile configuration parameter. 3. Verify that the envFile servlet parameter specifies the correct value. Create the file if necessary.

FRM-93211: error decoding query string using {0} encoding. Spaces generated from "+" in the value of otherparams may be converted to "%20".

Cause: There was a mismatch between the way that the browser encoded multibyte characters and the way that the Forms Servlet decoded them. This could indicate an invalid value for the defaultcharset parameter in the configuration file, or possibly a problem in either the browser or Oracle software.

Action: If the site uses the otherparams parameter in any URLs, verify that the defaultcharset parameter in the configuration file is correct; if the defaultcharset parameter is correct, contact Oracle Support Services. Otherwise, no action is required.

Cause: The specified command (which was intended to start the runtime process) threw an Exception. The command was retried with <oracle_home>/bin prefixed, but that too threw an Exception. A stack trace accompanies the following FRM-93535 error message. This error should never occur at a customer site. Note that <oracle_home> is derived from one of the following: 1. The ORACLE_HOME parameter in the environment variable configuration file. 2. The ORACLE_HOME environment variable.

Action: Contact Oracle Support Services.

FRM-93546: external message from runtime process: {0}

Cause: The runtime process wrote the specified message to stderr or stdout, but the message does not appear to have been written by the frmweb executable. It typically will be an O/S message identifying an error that occurred while attempting to load the executable. In such a case, this message will be followed immediately by FRM-93552.

Action: Examine the external message. If it identifies a fatal error, correct it, if possible. If the problem persists, contact Oracle Support Services.

FRM-93574: Application server does not support Oracle character set {0}.

Cause: The runtime process used the specified Oracle character set when it wrote messages for the Oracle Diagnostic Log, but the application server did not support that character set. Processing continued, using the ISO-8859-1 Java character set. However, some multibyte characters (those in variable arguments) in messages from the runtime process might have been displayed incorrectly in the Oracle Diagnostic Log.

Action: Verify that the environment variable configuration file specifies the correct value for NLS_LANG (specifically, the correct character set). If the problem persists, contact Oracle Support Services.

Cause: An attempt was made to load a business component with the same name and type as another business component already loaded by the application module.

Action: Provide a different name for the business component. If a null value or null string is provided for the name, the framework will create a unique name within the scope of the application module.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25002: Definition {1} of type {0} is not found.

Cause: A definition object with the given name could not be found.

Action: Provide a correct name for the business component definition (using the format 'packagename.objectname') and ensure that the definition is available on the classpath. This error can also occur if there is a case conflict, as when the database expects 'DEPTNO' and receives 'Deptno' instead.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25003: Object {1} of type {0} is not found.

Cause: A business component object with the given name could not be found in the application module.

Action: Provide a different name for the business component object or create a new business component with the given name.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25004: Definition name {1} of type {0} is invalid.

Cause: An attempt has been made to load an invalid definition name or associate a definition name with a type for which it is not valid.

Action: Ensure that the name is a valid Java identifier with no spaces or punctuation, and conforms to the format 'packagename.objectname'.

JBO-25005: Object name {1} of type {0} is invalid.

Cause: An attempt has been made to associate a business component name with an object for which it is not valid.

Action: Ensure that the name is a valid Java identifier with no spaces or punctuation, and conforms to the format 'packagename.objectname'.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25006: Value {2} passed as parameter {1} to method {0} is invalid: {3}.

Cause: An attempt was made to invoke a business components method with an invalid parameter value.

Action: Pass a correct value for the parameter. To determine the allowed values for a given parameter, check the Javadoc for the method that throws this exception. For example, Javadoc indicates that the 'DBTransactionImpl.executeCommand' method throws this exception when the 'command' parameter is empty.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25007: The validation flag cannot be reset for a default iterator.

Cause: An attempt was made to reset the row validation flag for the default iterator of a rowset or view object.

Action: Reset the row validation flag for the rowset or view object instead. This will create a secondary iterator to allow the rowset or viewobject to navigate to another row without validating.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25008: Object {0} cannot be removed because it is referenced by object {1}.

Cause: An attempt was made to remove a view object that is participating in a view link.

Action: Remove the view link before removing the view object.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25009: Cannot create an object of type:{0} from type:{2} with value:{1}

Cause: A domain object could not be created with the given value. Either a domain constructor that accepts the given value does not exist, or there is no conversion method in the domain object for the given value type, or the domain constructor threw an unexpected exception.

Action: Ensure that the value being passed is valid with respect to the domain type being created. For example, passing the string value 'one' to the 'oracle.jbo.domain.Number' constructor will throw this exception.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25010: A validation failure has occurred while creating a domain with value {0}.

Cause: Validation failed with the given value in a domain constructor. This exception is thrown in the domain type 'validate()' method.

Action: Provide a valid value for the domain type.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25011: Rowset {0} is forward only.

Cause: An attempt was made to invoke an invalid navigation method on a forward-only view object or rowset.

Action: Either remove the forward-only setting for the view object or rowset, or do not invoke navigation methods other than 'next()' on the forward-only view object or rowset.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25012: View object {0} does not have entity {1} as its primary base.

Cause: The client attempted to locate a view row that has the given entity row as its primary entity row. However, the entity row's entity definition does not match the entity definition of the view object's primary entity object base.

Action: Ensure that the entity row used to locate view rows is based on the same entity definition as the view object's primary entity object base.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25013: Too many objects match the primary key {0}.

Cause: An attempt was made to add a newly fetched or created entity to the cache, but the new entity has the same primary key as an existing entity. The primary key must be unique for this entity type.

Action: Add more attributes to the key definition for the entity type, so that each row for this entity is uniquely identifiable. Or fix the primary key value so that this entity has a unique key identifier.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25014: Another user has changed the row with primary key {0}.

Cause: The database value does not match the cached value for this entity object. This could happen when another user or operation has committed modifications to the same entity row in the database. This exception can also be thrown if the 'equals' method on one of the domain type attributes in the entity fails.

Action: Choose from the following options: 1. Verify that another user or operation has not modified the same row in the database. If this entity has attributes of a domain type verify that the `equals()` method on these domains do not fail when comparing the existing cached value with the newly fetched value. 2. For any attributes/columns that are updated by the database, modify the entity attribute definition by selecting 'Refresh after update' on the Attribute Settings page of the Entity Object Wizard. 3. Use 'view.executeQuery()' frequently, especially after any operations that result in data being changed.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25015: Query collection {0} is closed.

Cause: An attempt was made to execute a query or access a row from a closed or removed view object or rowset.

Action: Verify that the view object or rowset is not removed or closed.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25016: View object {0} is read-only.

Cause: An attempt was made to modify data for a view object which is declared to be read-only. This includes creating a new row for this view object, removing a row, or modifying attributes of a view row for this view object.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25019: Entity row with key {1} is not found in {0}.

Cause: An attempt was made to lock a nonexistent row in the database. This could occur when the cache has an entity which was subsequently deleted from the database by another user or operation.

Action: Remove the current entity from the entity cache by calling 'remove'. Or, synchronize the cache with the database by rolling back the current transaction or by committing the existing set of changes and then dropping the entity cache.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25020: View row with key {1} is not found in {0}.

Cause: An attempt to find a referenced entity in the view row failed due to a changed foreign key value.

Action: Fix the contained row-level or attribute-level exceptions in the details for this exception.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25026: Row {1} with XML tag {0} cannot be loaded.

Cause: An error occurred while reading the XML data for a view row. This exception might contain other ReadXMLExceptions for contained rowsets or attributes.

Action: Fix the rowset-level or attribute-level exceptions in the details for this exception.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25027: Attribute {1} at index {2} with XML tag {0} cannot be loaded.

Cause: An error occurred while reading the XML data for an attribute of a view row. This exception might contain other JboExceptions thrown from the set method for this attribute.

Action: Fix the JboException in the details for this exception.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25028: Domain object type {0} cannot be created: {1}.

Cause: A domain object could not be created with the given value. Either a domain constructor that accepts the given value does not exist, or there is no conversion method in the domain object for the given value type, or the domain constructor threw an unexpected exception.

Action: Ensure that the value being passed is valid with respect to the domain type being created. For example, passing the string value 'one' to the 'oracle.jbo.domain.Number' constructor will throw this exception.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25029: Domain class {0} is not found.

Cause: The named data class (typically a domain) could not be found.

Action: Ensure that the data class is accessible from the CLASSPATH and is a valid data class.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25030: Detail entity {0} with row key {1} cannot find or invalidate its owning entity.

Cause: No container entity was found for a detail entity in a composition association. This could occur if a nonexistent master key value was passed in during creation of a new detail entity instance, or if the foreign key value of this entity was modified so that it no longer matched any master entity.

Action: Pass a valid foreign key value to the 'create' method or 'setAttribute' method so that an appropriate master row is found for this entity.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25031: View row for view object {0} is missing entity row for {1}.

Cause: The client attempted to access an attribute of a view which is mapped to an entity row, but the corresponding entity row is null. If the view object consists of multiple entity object bases and if the secondary entity object bases are reference-only, the entity rows could be null if the foreign key linking the primary entity to the secondary entity object is null.

Action: Do not try to access attributes of missing entity rows in this situation.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25032: Passivation to target store {1} is unsuccessful.

Cause: A failure occurred while trying to passivate the application module or transaction state.

Action: Resolve the detail exception raised by the passivation target store (Database, File or Memory).

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25033: Activating state with id {0} from target store {1} is unsuccessful.

Cause: A failure occurred while trying to activate the application module or transaction state.

Action: Resolve the detail exception raised by the passivation target store (Database, File or Memory) and ensure that the state snapshot ID exists in the target store.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25034: Row with handle {1} is not found in rowset {0}.

Cause: The client attempted to locate a row with a stale row handle. This error might be raised if the client tries to take a row out of one query collection and use its handle to find a row in another query collection. Note that if the client calls `executeQuery` on a rowset, it might receive a new query collection. Thus, this error might occur if the client retrieves a row from a rowset, takes its row handle, calls executeQuery, and then tries to locate the row using the saved handle. This exception might also be raised if a row reference is used across transaction boundaries and the row handle has become stale and hence the corresponding row cannot be found.

Action: Make sure that the row handle is not stale. One approach is to find the row again using its primary key before attempting to act on the row.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25035: The application module passivation store is invalid.

Cause: An application attempted to change an application module's passivation store after it had been initialized. The passivation store (Database, File or Memory) can only be initialized once. If the customer application logic has not specified a passivation store when the serialization framework is invoked, the passivation store is initialized by the framework.

Action: Check the client application logic for invocations of ApplicationModuleImpl.setStoreForPassiveState which are invoked after the application module passivation store has been initialized.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25036: An invalid object operation was invoked on type {0} with name {1}

Cause: An application invoked an object operation that is not supported in the object's current state.

Action: Remove the invalid operation invocation or provide exception handling logic.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25037: Detail row set {0} is missing a master row set iterator for view link {1}, master view object {2}.

Cause: This row set is a detail in a master-detail relationship, but it is missing a master row set iterator. Most likely, this occurred because a master row set iterator was removed through a call to removeMasterRowSetIterator() and has not been replaced with an appropriate one.

Action: Call setMasterRowSetIterator() to provide a valid master row set iterator.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25038: Value {2} passed as parameter {1} to method {0} is invalid.

Cause: An attempt was made to invoke a business components method with an invalid parameter value.

Action: Refer to the documentation of error message JBO-25006 (EXC_INVALID_PARAMETER) for more information. The difference between this error message and EXC_INVALID_PARAMETER is that this version does not include an explanation. In general, Oracle recommends using JBO-25006 instead of JBO-25038.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25039: No current row in row set iterator {0}

Cause: The client attempted to work with the current row of a row set iterator, but the iterator has no current row.

Action: Position the iterator to the correct row and perform the operation.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25040: Row should be locked before getting an output stream from an attribute.

Cause: The row containing a large object was not locked before attempting to call a method on the large object that could potentially change the data of the object.

Action: Lock the row before attempting to get an output stream or write into a large object domain instance.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25041: Type map cannot convert data from {1} to {0} with operation {2}.

Cause: The TypeFactory class asked the TypeMapEntries class to convert data, but the TypeMapEntries class did not know how to perform the conversion. This is typically an issue with the TypeMapEntries implementation.

Action: Contact Oracle Support Services.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25042: Row of trans post listener handle {0} not found in list.

Cause: Entity row of the given handle is not found in transaction post listener list. Most likely cause of this error is as follows: the user requests certain operation. The operation tries to get access to the row in database. This fails for whatever reason (this exception's detail might have further information). The system tries to fix the problem at the entity level. It looks for the entity row in the transaction post listener list. The specified row is not found.

Action: Look at the details and see if the cause can be determined from them. Check to see if concurrent updates to database could have caused the problem.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25043: Extraneous key {0} of index {1} (in key-value array) passed to findByKey for view object {2}.

Cause: Extraneous key passed in to findByKey(). For example, suppose the View Object expects no more than a two-part key, but the key passed into findByKey is a three-part key. Then, this exception will be thrown.

Action: Provide a valid key.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25044: Application state snapshot is based on an older version of the application definition metadata.

Cause: An attempt was made to activate application module or transaction state based on an older metadata definition into an application module with a later metadata definition.

Action: Ensure that snapshots used for state activation were generated from the currently running version of the application definition metadata.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25045: Row set iterator {0} has detected an implicit synchronization attempt.

Cause: An attempt was made to implicitly synchronize an iterator in a 3-tier running environment. When the application module synchronization mode is set to SYNC_BATCH, iterator synchronization must be done explicitly.

Action: Remove code that attempts to synchronize the iterator implicitly.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25046: Requested row not available in row set iterator {0}.

Cause: This exception is thrown when running in 3 tier SYNC_BATCH mode. The user requested a row, but that row is not available in the cache.

Action: Make appropriate API calls to bring the required row into cache. Then, try to get the row again.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25047: Attempt to make call to server detected for application module {0}.

Cause: An attempt to make a call to server detected for an operation that is supposed to work only with client cache.

Action: Remove code/operation that attempts to call server.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25048: Operation {0} is invalid for a working set object.

Cause: This operation is invalid for this working set object. It might be because the operation doesn't make sense in batch mode, or because the batch communication mode (`WSApplicationModuleImpl.getBatchCommMode()`) does not allow this operation.

Action: Remove code/operation that calls the named method of set the batch communication mode to allow this operation.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25049: Entity {0} cannot be set to batch mode because a key attribute is marked as refresh-on-insert or refresh-on-update.

Cause: An attempt was made to set batch mode on an entity that has a primary key marked as refresh-on-insert or refresh-on-update.

Action: Remove the refresh-on-insert or refresh-on-update setting of the primary key attribute.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25050: Batch mode post operation failed. See Exception details for a list of failures.

Cause: Posting entities in batch mode failed with a set of exceptions

Action: Fix the cause for each of the exceptions in the details array.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25051: Row of range index {1} is not found in RowSetIterator {0}.

Cause: The client has attempted to locate a row with a range index, but the Row Set Iterator's range does not have a row at the index. It might be that the range index is too big (\geq the range size), or that the range is at the bottom and the range index is beyond the last row of the Row Set. Or, the Row Set might have been reset because of operations like rollback and clear-cache. Hence, the range is empty and no row is found

Action: Make sure that the row set iterator is open and has rows in its range. Also, make sure that the range index falls between the first and the last row of the range.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25052: View object {0} with no key attributes cannot be activated.

Cause: A view object with no key attributes was configured to passivate one or more of its transient attributes. However, a view object without key attributes cannot participate in state passivation.

Action: Define one or more key attributes for this view object.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25053: Cannot navigate with unposted rows in a RangePaging RowSet.

Cause: An attempt has been made to navigate a rowset in Range Paging mode when the rowset has inserted/removed rows.

Action: Post this transaction before navigating.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25054: Cannot locate the specified stack snapshot id: {0}

Cause: An attempt has been made to activate a stack snapshot that does not exist. The specified snapshot might already have been activated or the stack might already have been cleared by a previous rollback/commit.

Action: Ensure that stack snapshot ids are maintained by the application across transaction boundaries.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25055: Snapshot {0} cannot be removed.

Cause: An attempt was made to remove a persistent snapshot that is referenced by the snapshot stack.

Action: Clear the snapshot stack before attempting to remove the referenced snapshot.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25056: Cannot call removeFromCollection() or removeAndRetain() on an Entity row: Entity name {0}

Cause: An attempt has been made to call removeFromCollection() on an Entity row. It is illegal to call removeFromCollection() on an Entity row.

Action: Remove code that calls removeFromCollection() on an Entity row.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25057: Entity row update operation did not find matching row: Entity name {0}, key {1}

Cause: In LOCK_OPTUPDATE locking mode, an attempt was made to update an Entity row. The update operation failed to update any row.

Action: Another user might have modified the row and committed the changes.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25058: Definition {1} of type {0} is not found in {2}.

Cause: No business component definition found with the given name in the project classpath.

Action: Provide a correct name for the business component definition and ensure the definition is available on the classpath. Names are of the format `myProjectPackage.BusinessPackage.BusinessComponent`. This error can also occur if there is a case conflict, as when the database expects 'DEPTNO' and receives 'Deptno' instead.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25059: View Object {0} has ManageRowsByKey turned on, but its key definition is empty

Cause: This View Object is not Entity based, and its ManageRowsByKey flag is true. Yet, its key definition is empty. Restated, the user has asked for the View rows to be managed by keys, but the key definition is empty (which would produce empty keys for all rows).

Action: In order to manage EO-less View Object by key, a meaningful (non-empty) key definition must be supplied.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25060: Unexpected error encountered while trying to retrieve the next row from JDBC ResultSet for collection {0}

Cause: An unexpected exception was thrown while retrieving the next row from JDBC ResultSet.

Action: Take a look at the detail exception for further information and fix underlying problems.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25061: Cannot enable passivation for internal ViewObjects and rowsets.

Cause: ViewRowSetImpl.setPassivationEnabled called for internal rowset

Action: Create a datamodel ViewObject instance and use rowsets from that ViewObject to make them passivation enabled.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25062: Cannot find a matching detail ViewObject. Link definition: {0}, master row set iterator {1}.

Cause: An attempt was made to create detail rowset. However, no matching detail view object could be found.

Action: Ensure that a matching view object is present before attempting to create a detail rowset.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25063: Operation {0} cannot be performed because the working set object is not bound.

Cause: This operation is invalid for this working set object because the working set object is not bound to actual implementation object.

Action: This action must be performed after the working set object is bound.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25064: Variable {1} in RowSet {0} is not a where-clause parameter. It is of kind {2}.

Cause: A call was made to define or set a named where-clause parameter value. However, the named variable's 'kind' is not 'where'. That is, the variable is not a where-clause parameter.

Action: Make sure that the variable name is correct and that the named variable is a where-clause parameter.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25065: Named where-clause parameter {0} does not belong to ViewObject {1}. It belongs to an object of type {2}.

Cause: An attempt was made to remove a named where-clause parameter. However, this where-clause parameter is owned by neither the RowSet nor the ViewObject. Therefore, the parameter cannot be removed.

Action: It is illegal to try to remove a named where-clause parameter that does not belong to either the RowSet or the ViewObject.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25066: View Object {0} is based on an Entity built from Row Set. For such a View Object, cannot include QUERY_MODE_SCAN_DATABASE_TABLES in its query mode.

Cause: An attempt was made to include QUERY_MODE_SCAN_DATABASE_TABLES in the View Object's query mode (through a call to setQueryMode()). However, this View Object can perform query only through Entity Object. Hence, QUERY_MODE_SCAN_DATABASE_TABLES is inappropriate.

Action: The View Object is probably based on an Entity, which in turn is based on a RowSet (EntityDefOverRowSet). It is illegal to use QUERY_MODE_SCAN_

DATABASE_TABLES for a View Object built on top of an Entity which is built over a Row Set. Do not include QUERY_MODE_SCAN_DATABASE_TABLES in the setQueryMode() invocation.

Level: 1

JBO-25067: Entity {0} has a subclass EO {1} and no discriminator. Therefore this base Entity cannot be used to create an Entity Row.

Cause: An attempt was made to create a new instance of an Entity Row. However, this Entity Definition has a subclass Entity Definition with no discriminator. That is, this Entity Definition should really be abstract.

Action: Typically in this situation, the base class should not instantiate any row. Use the subclass Entity to create the row

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25068: Entity {0} has a base EO {1} with no discriminator, but base EO has rows in its cache. Cannot populate both caches.

Cause: An attempt was made to create a new instance of an Entity Row. However, this Entity Definition is a subclass Entity Definition with no discriminator, and a base EO has a row already instantiated. A conflict exists because nothing discriminates this Entity from the base Entity.

Action: Typically in this situation, the base class should not instantiate any row. Use the subclass Entity to create the row

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25069: Row definition {0} has two sibling subclasses defs, {1} and {2}, but no discriminator to distinguish them.

Cause: Two sibling subclasses of a Row Definition are found, but the Row Definition has no discriminator. This condition is disallowed because when a row is either retrieved or created, the framework cannot determine the correct row class. That is, the hierarchy forks without a discriminator. The only situation whether subclassing is allowed without discriminator is when the tree is straight lined and only one of the classes in the hierarchy line is used to instantiate rows.

Action: Either define discriminator attributes, or do not create siblings in the row class hierarchy.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25070: Where-clause param variable {0} needs ordinal index array.

Cause: This view object of entity is using Oracle number style binding (:1, :2, ... binding, not named binding) or JDBC style (? binding). A variable of where-clause-param kind is found, but the extended int array that designates where the value should be bound is missing.

Action: When defining a variable for where-clause param in conjunction with a binding style which is not Oracle named binding, specify an int array that designates where the value should be bound.

Level: 1

JBO-25071: Applying List binding {1} with given set of values leads to multiple matching rows for a row of type:{0}, key {2}

Cause: ListBinding results in more than one matching row for the given set of mapping values. Only one matching row is expected.

Action: Provide a new set of mapping values that will end up in a single matching row or adjust the StructureDef metadata to allow defaulting to the first matching row.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-25072: Applying List binding {1} with given set of values leads to no matching row for a row of type :{0}, key {2}

JBO-25085: The value being set for attribute {0} does not match the value derived from list binding {1}

Cause: An attribute value being set does not match the attribute value derived from a list binding. This typically happens in the following situations. First, suppose the user sets values for Deptno from 10 to 20 and Dname from ABC to DEF. If a list binding is triggered by Deptno and if it sets Dname to XYZ, the result is an inconsistent state where DEF does not match XYZ. In this situation, this exception is thrown. Second, suppose there is an EmpDept view object with Emp and Dept entity bases. Suppose Dept is reference and read-only and there is a list binding on Dept.Dname whose derived attribute is Emp.Deptno. If the user selects a new Dept through the dept name, a new Dept entity row is brought in (because a new Emp.Deptno is chosen). After this, the framework checks to make sure that the Dname coming from the new entity row matches the original selection from the list binding. If they do not match, this exception is thrown.

Action: Make sure the list binding definition and attribute set values end up in a consistent result (i.e., the derived values from the list binding match the row's attribute values).

JBO-25222: Unable to create application module.

Cause: The application module was typically not created for one of the following reasons: 1. Business components deployed in local mode were not found on the classpath. 2. Unresolved classes existed on the server. 3. Java2 permissions were not granted. 4. Java pool size was too small.

Action: Depending on the cause, chose from the following actions: If business components are deployed in local mode, they might not be on the classpath.

If this is the cause of the error, the exception will usually be followed by a different exception, JBO-25002: NoDefException. If this occurs, try the following: Make a library for the business components. Add the library to the client's project properties. Include the library on the 'libraries' page when creating a deployment profile for the client (whether the client was a web application or a command-line application). Copy the library with the client to the target platform (whether the client was a web application or a command-line application). Include all the copied files (including the library) when setting the classpath on the target platform. There might be unresolved classes on the server. Try the following procedure to resolve any unresolved classes on the database. In the System Navigator, right-click the JDBC connection used to deploy the Business Components project. Choose Invoke SQLPlus from the context menu. Copy and paste the following SQLPlus script into the SQLPlus window. set termout off set echo off set heading off set pages 999 set linesize 2000 set feedback off select 'alter java class "" | | replace(dbms_java.longname(object_name),','|') | |' resolve;' from user_objects where object_type='JAVA CLASS' and status = 'INVALID' spool C:\temp\resolve.sql / spool off set echo on set termout on @C:\temp\resolve.sql
There might be missing Java2 permissions. If this is the cause of the error, there will be permissions errors in the database trace file. To correct the problem, see the help topic 'Granting Permissions on a Business Components EJB' for information on granting Java2 permissions. Note: The location of the database trace file varies from installation to installation, but in a default Windows NT installation, the file will be in the directory ORACLE_HOME\admin\orcl\ udump and will have the form orclnnnn.trc. The Java pool size might be too small Business Components for Java deployed as EJBs work best with a Java pool size of at least 50MB. Edit the init.ora file and check the <code>java_pool_size</code> parameter. If it is under 50MB, change it, restart the database, and try the connection again.

JBO-26001: XML File not found for the Container {0}

Cause: Could not open the named XML file for reading.

Action: Try the following: Make sure that the file is present. In particular, if the file is to be found in a Zip/JAR file, make sure that the Zip/JAR file is included in the CLASSPATH. This error is also reported if the name of the XML file does not match the object Name specified in the XML file. If the file system supports case insensitive file names (e.g., Windows NT), make sure that the file name matches the object Name in the XML file in case-sensitive fashion. For a JPX file, this error is reported if the JPX file is missing the JboProject XML tag. Check the JPX file to make sure that the valid tag is in there. One XML file might be extending another XML file (specified by the Extends element in this XML file). This error is reported if the base XML file is not found. When loading the XML file for a package (JboPackage tag), this error is reported if some unexpected error occurs while loading a contained object. In all of the above cases, a more descriptive message might be printed on Diagnostic. To see these messages, run the application with Diagnostic turned on, as in 'java -Djbo.debugoutput=console ...', to see Diagnostic messages.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26002: Error Parsing the XML file "{0}".

Cause: Some XML parsing exception (`oracle.xml.parser.v2.XMLParseException`) was thrown.

Action: The XMLParseException information is output to Diagnostic. To see diagnostic messages, run the application with diagnostic turned on, for example 'java -Djbo.debugoutput=console ...'

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26003: Mismatch in the attribute indices declared in Java versus the indices in the definition for entity {0}.

Cause: An error occurred while loading entity object definitions. An attribute index in the Java class for this entity has a mismatch with the index in the definition, or an attribute index is missing in the Java class.

Action: Ensure that the indices of attributes in the definition for this entity match the indices defined in the Java class for this entity.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26004: A recursive base definition is found while attempting to set the base definition of {0} to {1}.

Cause: An attempt was made to set the base definition of another definition object, e.g., setting B's base definition to A (i.e., B Extends A). However, A already extends B. Setting a recursive (circular) subclassing relationship among definition objects is illegal.

Action: Review the subclassing hierarchy of the definition objects and correct errors.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26005: FetchMode must be either FETCH_AS_NEEDED, FETCH_ALL or FETCH_DEFAULT. View object {0}

Cause: The fetch mode specified in the view definition XML file is not valid.

Action: Check the content of the XML file for the view definition. Look for an XML element named 'FetchMode'. Make sure that the value for that element is valid. Valid values are: 'FETCH_AS_NEEDED', 'FETCH_ALL', and 'FETCH_DEFAULT'

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26006: FetchSize must be a positive integer. View object {0}

Cause: The fetch size specified in the view definition XML file is not valid.

Action: Check the content of the XML file for the view definition. Look for an XML element named 'FetchSize'. Make sure that the value for the element is a positive integer.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26007: MaxFetchSize should be MAX_FETCH_UNLIMITED, MAX_FETCH_DEFAULT or integer. View object {0}

Cause: The maximum fetch size specified in the view definition XML file is not valid.

Action: Check the content of the XML file for the view definition. Look for an XML element named 'MaxFetchSize'. Make sure that the value for the element is a non-negative integer, or 'MAX_FETCH_UNLIMITED', or 'MAX_FETCH_DEFAULT'. A MaxFetchSize of 0 is the same as MAX_FETCH_UNLIMITED.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26008: Could not resolve reference to "{0}".

Cause: A problem is found in resolving a view link definition or an association. In case of a view link, this error might be caused by the fact that the source or destination view object cannot be found. Or, if the view link ends have attribute names, this error might indicate that the named attributes cannot be found. Similarly, for an association, this error indicates that either source or destination entity object or attributes involved in the association cannot be found.

Action: Make sure the XML definition for the view link/association has correct view object/entity object/attribute names.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26009: Serialized file "{0}" is invalid. The root object is not a Business Component object.

Cause: This error occurs if the application uses meta object serialization files (.ser files) instead of XML files. It indicates that after the .ser file was deserialized, the top level object returned from deserialization was not an instance of oracle.jbo.server.xml.JboElementImpl.

Action: Repair the corrupt .ser file.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26010: Invalid Entity Attribute Name "{1}" specified for the View Attribute "{0}"

Cause: Entity attribute name in the view definition XML file is invalid or is not found.

Action: Make sure that the entity name is valid. Also, check to make sure that the named attribute does exist in the entity object. The entity object is identified by the EntityUsage element.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26011: SQLType not specified for the View Attribute "{0}"

Cause: Attribute definition found in XML file is invalid. It is missing SQLType value.

Action: Correct the error in the XML file.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26012: Invalid View Link Definition "{0}". View Link must have two ViewLinkDefEnds.

Cause: The view link definition in the XML file is missing either the source or destination view link end. For a view link XML file, two elements named ViewLinkDefEnd should be found.

Action: Correct the error in the XML file.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26013: Naming Exception occurred while looking up the object "{0}".

Cause: Meta object name passed for lookup is invalid.

Action: Normally, the meta object name is a dot-separated name of the meta object. For an entity object named Emp in package1.example, the correct name would be `package1.example.Emp`. To correct, locate where the invalid name is coming from (could be meta object names mentioned in an XML file, or the name of the project, etc.) and change the name to a valid one.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26015: View object {0} does not include a discriminator column {2} of entity base {1}.

Cause: A view definition does not include a discriminator column of an entity base. If an entity base has discriminator columns, it must include all of them in the view object's attribute mapping.

Action: Change the view definition to include discriminator column attributes.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26016: Cannot set user query to view "{0}" because it is a destination in a view link

Cause: An attempt was made to call 'setQuery()' on a detail view object in a master detail view link.

Action: Do not call setQuery() if the view object is a detail.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Action: Set some attributes on the row before attempting to insert it into the database.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26019: Attempting to remove a parent entity without removing all children entities

Cause: Attempting to remove a master which has detail entities. In the case of a composition, a master cannot be removed if it has details.

Action: Remove all the details of this master by accessing the details via an association and removing all of them.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26020: Attempting to insert row with no matching EO base

Cause: The application code tried to take a row from one row set (or view object) and insert it into another row set (view object). In response, the framework will make a copy of the row in the new row set. This new row will share references to the underlying entity objects. However, if the source and destination row sets do not share any entity object bases at all, this operation will fail as it does not find any entity rows to share.

Action: When attempting to take a row from one row set and insert into another, make sure that they share at least one entity object base.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26021: NullPointerException while parsing XML file "{0}". Perhaps missing DTD file?

Cause: A NullPointerException was thrown while parsing an XML file. A possible cause for this is that the DTD file is missing (oracle.jbo.dtd.jbo.dtd).

Action: Make sure the appropriate DTD file is present.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26022: Custom class {0} cannot be found.

Cause: A custom class could not be found and loaded. The custom class might be for a component (for example, view object), a definition (for example, view definition), or a row (for example, view row or entity row).

Action: Make sure that the named class is reachable from the CLASSPATH. The detail exception (if present) provides more specific reasons why the attempt to locate and load the custom class failed.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26023: Custom class {0} is not assignable to {1}

Cause: Custom class was found and loaded, but it is invalid in that it is not assignable to a framework (super) class.

Action: Make sure that the custom class subclasses the appropriate framework (super) class.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26024: An error occurred while creating InitialContext

Cause: An error occurred while creating initial context. This error usually carries a detail exception which will give further information on the cause of the error.

Action: When running inside JServer, make sure that the database user (schema) has the setContextClassLoader permission. To grant this, the database system administrator can invoke the following PL/SQL procedure: EXEC DBMS_JAVA.GRANT_PERMISSION('&&1', 'SYS:java.lang.RuntimePermission', 'setContextClassLoader', null);

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26025: An error occurred while trying to get System properties

Cause: An error occurred while trying to get System properties. Specifically, System.getProperties() call failed.

Action: When running inside JServer, make sure that the database user (schema) has the proper property permission. To grant this, database system can invoke the following PL/SQL procedure: EXEC DBMS_JAVA.GRANT_PERMISSION('&&1', 'SYS:java.util.PropertyPermission', '', 'read');

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26026: An error occurred while loading properties from a properties file {0}

Cause: An error occurred while trying to get load properties.

Action: Check to see if the named properties file contains valid Java properties.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

Cause: Unable to find a resource

Action: Check to see if the resource exists and the framework code has adequate permissions to load the resource.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26028: View object {0} does not include a primary key attribute {2} of entity base {1}.

Action: Change the view definition to include all primary key attributes.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26029: Could not find and load the type map class {0}

Cause: Custom type map class could not be found and loaded.

Action: Make sure that the named class is reachable from the CLASSPATH. If jbo.TypeMapEntries property is specified, make sure that the property value is correct. Also, though unlikely, this might be caused by an improper implementation of SQLBuilder where it is returning an incorrect value for type map class name. The detail exception (if present) will provide more specific reasons why the attempt to locate and load the custom class failed.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26030: Failed to lock the record, another user holds the lock.

Cause: This row has already been locked by another user or transaction.

Action: Try locking the row again and the operation should succeed after the other user or transaction has released the lock.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26031: Association end {0} of assoc {1} invalid for entity base {2} in view object {3}.

Cause: Problem in secondary entity base definition in view definition. The named entity base is supposed to use the named entity association end to join it with another entity base, but, when resolved with the association definition, the association end does not resolve to the same entity. For example, suppose one builds a view object with Dept and Emp. Emp is supposed to join with Dept using the EmpEnd of the DeptEmp association. For such a view definition, the framework verifies that EmpEnd indeed is from Emp entity. If EmpEnd was from another entity, say Person (or Dept), it would not be correct to use that association end to perform join.

Action: Most commonly, this is caused by incorrect information in the view object XML file. Make sure that the association end for the named entity usage is not pointing at the wrong end of association.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26032: Operation {0} is invalid for a ViewCriteria or ViewCriteriaRow.

Cause: The attempted operation is invalid for a ViewCriteria or ViewCriteriaRow.

JBO-26035: Secondary entity usage {0} is missing parts of association description.

Cause: A view definition is found with an entity usage definition where the secondary entity usage's association description is incomplete.

Action: Examine the view object's XML file. A secondary entity usage's association description should have the following elements: 'Association', 'AssociationEnd', and 'SourceUsage'. Check to see if any of these are missing.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26036: The configuration of meta object {0} causes recursive substitution.

Cause: An attempt was made to set up meta object substitution that leads to recursion. For example, consider a substitution where C substitutes B, and B substitutes A, and A substitutes C. This results in a recursive substitution and will cause this error.

Action: Review the meta object substitution and correct errors.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26037: Cannot find matching EO from discriminator columns for view object {0}, entity base {1}, discr value {2}.

Cause: While creating a new view row, the system found an entity object base with discriminator column attributes. However, the discriminator column values coming from the view row do not match any of the entity objects (the entity for the entity object base or any of its extended entities).

Action: Make sure that the view row discriminator column values match one and only one entity object.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26038: Cannot find an entity usage for entity {1} in view link definition {0}, view link end {2}.

Cause: The view link definition is based on an entity association. One of its ends specifies the named entity definition, but the view definition for that view link end does not have an entity usage for that entity definition.

Action: Correct the error in the view link definition (XML file). In particular, check to see if the view link source and destination are not switched with those of the entity association.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26039: View object {0} does not include an alternate key attribute {2} of entity base {1}, entity key {3}.

Cause: A view definition does not include an alternate key attribute of an entity base. When a view object uses an entity as one of its entity bases, and when it defines a view object level alternate key using one of the entity alternate keys, it must map the entity attributes that make up the alternate key.

Action: Change the view definition to include all necessary alternate key attributes.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26044: Error while getting estimated row count for view object {0}, statement {1}.

Cause: The application tried to get an estimated row count (getEstimatedRowCount()) on a row set. Action: Ensure that: The Oracle database version is correct. The table in question is an object table. The object table uses a PK-based REF. This error normally carries a detail exception from database which will give further information about the database failure. Take a look at the detail exception and address the database problem.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26083: Comparison operator {0} has a string code for its description, but the message bundle class cannot be found.

Cause: A comparison operator was specified with string code, but the message bundle class could not be loaded. When specifying a string code for translatable operator description, the framework first checks to see if the operator specification includes a message bundle class name. If so, it attempts to find the string in that message bundle. If not, then the framework tries to find the string in the owning object's (either view object or entity object) message bundle. If both fail, this error is raised.

Action: Make sure that the comparison operator specification is correct in the XML file.

Action: Correct the error in the XML file.

Level: 1

Type: ERROR

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26086: Association attributes do not match the destination EO's primary keys in EO-exists validator {0} of {1}.

Cause: The EO-exists validator's source side attribute list does not match the destination EO's primary keys. For example, suppose there is a PurchaseOrder EO which includes an EO-exists validator to Customer EO. PurchaseOrder EO is using association CustToPurch to validate. In this case, the association attribute list on the PurchaseOrder side match with Customer's PK exactly (order does not matter--they must equal as sets).

Action: Correct the error in the XML file.

Level: 1

JBO-26087: The master end accessor {0} of composition assoc {1} has an invalid attribute kind: {2}.

Cause: The composition association's master end has attribute kind of RowSetIterator (cardinality -1 or > 1), i.e., it returns an iterator, rather than a row.

Action: Master end in an association must return a single row. Thus, the attribute kind must be Row (cardinality = 1).

JBO-26089: An attempt was made to edit def object {0} but another user edited and saved the def object. Orig version: {1}, tip version: {2}.

Cause: The client made a request to edit a def object. However, either the major version number or the minor version number do not match between the original def object and the def object found on the tip of the MDS repository. This means another user has modified and saved the def object between the time when this client loaded the original def object.

Impact: Programmatic

JBO-26091: An attempt was made to refresh def object {0} to tip, but another user made structural changes and saved. Orig major version: {1}, tip major version: {2}.

Cause: The def object from the tip of the repos shows that the object's major edit version number was incremented. This means that another user made structural changes to the def object and it may not be refreshed with the latest def object.

Action: The def object cache should be refreshed to the tip of the repos.
